Change your filter, save your gear

On the farm, every minute counts. Whether you're fuelling your machinery up before dawn or keeping irrigation systems humming through the afternoon, clean, reliable fuel is non-negotiable. But here's a detail that's often overlooked - a simple fuel filter can make or break the performance of your entire operation.

Fuel filters are vital for maintaining the quality and cleanliness of fuel before it's used. They capture harmful contaminants like dirt, rust from corroded tanks, water from leaks or condensation, and microbial growth. By blocking these impurities, filters protect engines and equipment from clogging, poor performance, and breakdowns - which can be costly and disruptive, especially during busy periods.

That's where routine fuel filter replacement comes in. Swapping out tank filters ensures your machinery gets clean fuel every time, which means better performance, longer engine life, and fewer repair headaches. It's a small job that carries big benefits - not only for your equipment but for your budget too.

At Allied Petroleum, all of our fuel equipment is regularly serviced. We recommend checking and replacing filters at least once a season, or more frequently for high-use gear. To find the right filter for you, just pop instore and chat with the friendly team at Ruralco. So next time you're checking your oil or fuel levels, don't overlook the filter. That quick inspection could save you time, money, and a whole lot of hassle.

A clean filter might just be the easiest, and smartest, upgrade you'll make this season.

PLAN NOW. GROW BETTER THIS SPRING.

Winter is the planning window on farm. Decisions made now around pasture renewal and crop selection can have a major impact on feed supply and farm performance. Getting your seed plan sorted early helps secure the right varieties and sets you up for a stronger season ahead.

PASTURE RENEWAL

- A proven way to lift long-term productivity and feed supply
- Renewing underperforming paddocks improves pasture quality and resilience
- Seed mixes can be tailored to suit dairy, sheep and beef, or mixed farming systems

WINTER FEED CROPS

- Kale and fodder beet provide dependable winter and early spring feed
- Crop choice should match your system, grazing plan, and feed demand
- Establishment timing and good preparation are key to maximising feed yield

MAIZE

- A high-yield, reliable feed option across many farming systems
- Hybrid selection is important, with maturity, locality, soil type, and end use all influencing performance
- Early planning helps secure preferred varieties and allows time for paddock preparation

GRAIN & CEREAL SEED

- Plays an important role in crop rotations and farm system planning
- Forage cereals add flexibility and support feed supply to farming operations
- Cereal variety choice and agronomy support help ensure strong crop performance that fits within your programme

Don't leave it too late. Talk to your Ruralco representative today to plan your spring seed requirements and set your farm up for a stronger season ahead.
